THE FISH HAWK.

The fish hawk, or osprey, is not as large as the eagle, but he has a hooked bill and sharp-claws like the eagle. He is dark brown in colour with black and white spots, and he is twenty to twenty-two inches long. His breast is mostly white. His tail and wings are long. The fish hawk is often found sitting upon a tree over a pond, lake, or river. He is also found by the seaside. He watches the fish as they swim in the water beneath him, and then he darts down suddenly and catches one of them. When he catches a fish in his sharp, rough claws, he carries it off to eat, and, as he flies away with it for his dinner, an eagle sometimes meets him. The eagle flies at him fiercely with his sharp bill, claws and compels the hawk to drop the fish. Then the eagle catches the fish as it falls and carries it off. The poor fish hawk, with a loud cry, timidly flies away. He must go again to the water and catch another fish for his dinner. So you see that the eagle is a robber. He robs fish hawks, whose only mode of getting a living is by catching fish.
